

A companion booklet to When Someone Dies: A Non-Lawyer's Guide to Probate

Dear Community Member

Dear Community Member:

The Council for Court Excellence is pleased to provide you with this Personal Affairs Record Book. We encourage you to read it and to fill it out promptly. This Record Book is organized to help you list and record, on the pages which follow, the location and content of your important personal and financial papers.

We present this Record Book as a companion to the Council for Court Excellence's community-education booklet When Someone Dies: A Non-Lawyer's Guide to Probate in Washington, DC. When Someone Dies provides step-by-step guidance to the District of Columbia's system for settling the financial affairs of deceased DC residents. That system was greatly simplified for our community by the DC Council's passage of the 1994 DC Probate Reform Act and the Omnibus Trusts and Estates Amendment Act of 2000.

We thank our board member firms and other individual contributors for their generous support of this educational resource for the community. We especially thank the GEICO Philanthropic Foundation for underwriting the costs of redesigning and reprinting this new edition of the Personal Affairs Record Book. We are able to provide this booklet and our other educational materials free of charge because of the generosity of all our contributors. You may also download this Record Book and When Someone Dies from our website: www.courtexcellence.org.

As a local, nonprofit, non-partisan civic organization, the Council for Court Excellence depends on voluntary contributions from the private sector to accomplish our community education and justice system improvement goals.

We hope you will consider making a tax-deductible gift or a bequest in your Will to the Council for Court Excellence. Your gift in any amount will enable this fine organization to continue to promote public understanding and improvement in the administration of justice in this community in the years ahead. Please see the inside back cover of this booklet for more information about the Council for Court Excellence and how to make such a gift.

Sincerely,

June B. Kress
Executive Director

INTRODUCTION Why you should take time to fill out this booklet now

The Importance of Completing a Personal Affairs Form

At the time of your death, someone close to you—a relative, friend, or perhaps your family lawyer—will need to know how to handle your affairs for you. This Personal Affairs Record Book is intended to assist you in listing information and identifying the location of all documents which will aid your personal representative when the information is needed. (In other communities the term EXECUTOR may be used to describe the person named in the Will to handle your affairs after your death. Under District of Columbia laws this person is called the PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE.)

The Personal Affairs Record Book is not meant to be a nuisance or a somber reminder. It should be very helpful to you in organizing your personal and financial papers. By completing this booklet you will help ensure that your loved ones do not encounter difficulty when settling your estate and tending to your final wishes and concerns.

The Personal Affairs Record Book is not a substitute for your Last Will and Testament. Also, the Personal Affairs Record Book is not a legal document. Once you fill it out, it will assist you and your personal representative or other loved one in locating important papers and other records for your life. After your death, this Record Book could save your loved ones or personal representative many hours in locating important information about your affairs.

Where Should You Keep This Booklet?

Keep this Personal Affairs Record Book in the same safe place you store the original copy of your Last Will and Testament and other important family papers (e.g., your passport, mortgage, birth certificate, etc.). Many people store their important papers in a safe deposit box at their bank or at their lawyer's office. The decision is yours to make. Both your Will and the completed copy of the Personal Affairs Record Book may be needed quickly. Be sure and inform your personal representative, spouse, or nearest relative exactly where you put them.

The subject of where to keep your most important papers is a question asked by many people. There is no right answer for every person but suggestions can be helpful.

Many informed people feel most comfortable keeping their Last Will and Testament and other important papers in a safedeposit box at their bank or at their family lawyer's office.

It is strongly advised that you should keep all your important papers together.

How This Booklet is Organized

The Personal Affairs Record Book is divided into six sections:

- 1. Personal and Family Information
- 2. Employment
- 3. Assets
- 4. Liabilities
- 5. Other Helpful Information
- 6. Glossary

Some items within each section of this booklet may not apply to you. If so, skip those items and proceed to the next relevant item. For some items you may need to make more than one entry; if this situation occurs use the blank sheet at the back of this booklet and number the entry accordingly. Detail is very important within the Personal Affairs Record Book. Less specific information will help the settling of your estate, but more detailed and specific information will enhance the efficiency, timeliness and comprehensiveness of settling your affairs.

On page 19 you will find a glossary of terms to further assist you in using this material.

On many of the pages which follow there is a space for you to fill in the date you prepared this page. It is important for you to fill in the date because it provides a point of reference for the information you have listed.

Your Quick Reference Financial Affairs Locator

This is a checklist for you to indicate the location of your important papers. This list is not to be used in place of the Personal Affairs Record Book which follows. Please indicate the specific location (e.g., your bank safe deposit box) where you keep each of these papers on the lines below. If an item does not apply put N/A for not applicable.

About the Council for Court Excellence

Formed in Washington, DC in January 1982, the Council for Court Excellence is a nonprofit, nonpartisan civic organization. The Council works to improve the administration of justice in the local and federal courts and related agencies in the Washington metropolitan area and in the nation. The Council accomplishes this goal by:

- Identifying and promoting justice system reform,
- Improving public access to justice, and
- Increasing public understanding and support of our justice system.

The Council is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors composed of members of the legal, business, civic, and judicial communities. The Council is unique in bringing together all of those communities in common purpose to address justice system reform and access to justice needs. The Board accomplishes the work of the Council through direct participation in Council committees. The Council employs a small staff to assist the Board in meeting the objectives of the organization. Financial support comes from the members of the Board, businesses, law firms, individuals, foundations, and occasionally government.

The Council for Court Excellence has built a substantial record of success in the major justice system reform initiatives it has undertaken. The Council has been the moving force behind adoption of the one day/one trial jury system in the DC Superior Court, modernization of trial jury and grand jury systems, reform of the District of Columbia probate laws and procedures, reform of the DC administrative adjudication system, improvement in handling of child neglect and abuse cases, expansion of crime victim rights, proposing methods to speed resolution of criminal cases, and proposing methods to speed resolution of civil cases by the DC trial and appellate courts. To improve the public's access to justice and increase their understanding of our justice system, the Council over the years has published and distributed over 350,000 copies of plain-language booklets and other materials explaining a wide variety of court systems.
